

Scargill: has to rest

S. Tms 2 7 MAY 1984

The miners' leader has a wonderful chart for an artist. Fantasy is a realm he inhabits with ease. Saturn (reality, common sense) sits at 180 degrees to Neptune (unreality, artistic creativity, escapism) in his chart with Mercury (communication, mind) at 90 degrees to both. So he see-saws between Saturn and Neptune, and has problems distinguishing between what is real and what is not.

He is a master of self-deception, and - typical of the highly Neptunian - cannot be pinned down.

Were he a client, I would advise long periods of quiet and solitude with a job that made use of his subtle, sensitive side, otherwise his delicate nervous tuning is liable to overload and cause illness.

He is imaginative, energetic, charismatic, sympathetic, but is so carried aloft by his soaring ambition, his delusions of himself as Messiah, that the nicer bits get swamped.

Like Mrs Thatcher he is autocratic with strong, selfrighteous convictions which he imposes on others. He might ponder on the fate of Icarus.

His judgment has been poorer than usual since last spring, as Neptune moved to 29 degrees Sagittarius. It is time to avoid negotiations as others will totally misunderstand him.

The text book advice is : "Don't become so committed to a position that you can't let go of it without damaging your belief in yourself. This period may take away elements of your life that you have identified with, to show you your existence doesn't depend on them."

My additional advice would be: "Take it easy; find peace and quiet; and watch your health."
